One Team – One Plan – All Hazards

Subtropical Storm Andrea

Situation Report #1       Wednesday, May 9, 2007

Current Situation:

- Tropical Storm Watch in effect for St. Johns County.
- Evening and tonight’s forecast: Mostly cloudy. Slight chance of showers in the evening...Then chance of showers after midnight. Areas of smoke through the night. Lows in the lower 60s. Northwest winds 5 to 10 mph. Chance of rain 40 percent.
- St. Johns County coastal areas are under a High Surf Advisory
- Subtropical Storm Andrea is moving very slowly and will likely be around for several days; intensification is unlikely.
- Coastal residents should remain watchful to changing weather situations and the possibility of further beach erosion.
- All government offices are open today.
- All utilities are functioning normally.
- Citizens Information Line 904-824-5550

County Actions:

- Emergency Operations Center is at a Level 3 – Monitoring
- St. Johns County has not Declared a State of Local Emergency
- No evacuations are anticipated at this time
- St. Johns County Emergency Management is participating in State Conference calls with the National Weather Service and the National Hurricane Center.

Special Note

- St. Johns County Emergency Management is requesting that any departments or organizations that are taking any actions relative to Subtropical Storm Andrea please advise us by email so that they can be added to our situation reports that are forwarded to the State EOC.

Citizens Information Line 904-824-5550